

I am against the proposed deregulation of media ownership. The mainstream media is the way that most Americans find out what's going on in the world. It is already dominated by large corporations, who get to decide what the news is. We need to preserve any remaining impartiality of the media.